

New Samba Band in Redruth for people with learning difficulties

Do you fancy . . .

Learning to play Samba?
Joining a Band?
Making new friends?
Having some fun?

A new band is starting in Redruth in November.

Robert Owen Communities (ROC), a registered charity which offers opportunities to people with learning disabilities, is running Saturday morning sessions at the Murdoch and Trevithick Centre beginning on 13th November. The new band is open to all and we particularly encourage those with disabilities to come along and have a go. No previous experience is needed. We will provide all the equipment and people to help you. We already have bookings to perform at events next year – so come and join us!

10.00am—12.00pm
Starting 13th November
£9.00 per session

Experienced staff
All equipment and refreshments provided
