Cllr Ms Reeve advised that the Covid marshals had been submitting reports, the most recent of which indicated there had been no incidents. The Kresen Kernow site had also been quiet, however there had been a recent report made in relation to antisocial behaviour. The Police continued to make regular visits to areas where issues had been reported. The Community Projects Manager would be asked to put information on the Town Council social media pages in relation to scam vaccination emails. Councillors were advised that the Police had been leaving messages on the windscreens of vehicles parked dangerously on Nettles Hill, but that they were unable to expedite the installation of double yellow lines by Cornwall Council. It was pointed out that Cornwall Council car parks were, in any event, free to use during the lockdown period. Cllr Barnes was asked to put pressure on Cornwall Council to erect notices to this effect. PCSO Thorne agreed to look into concerns brought to the attention of the Planning Committee in relation to dangerous parking on Albany Road. Cllr Mrs Ellenbroek advised that the three Cornwall Councillors for Redruth had made clear the concerns in relation to the lack of continuity caused by frequent personnel changes in the Sector Inspector post.
